A COURSE OF Free Lectures on matters connected with building will be delivered at Carpenter's Hall, London Wall, on Wednesdays, commencing February 21st. Full particulars of the course may be obtained in the office.

ARRANGEMENTS have been made with the London Society for the Extension of University Teaching for a Course of Ten Lectures upon the Growth of National Unity or English History from the Great Conquest to the Great Charter, 1066—1216, by the Rev. T. J. Lawrence, M.A., LL.M., commencing Wednesday, January 25th, at 8.15 p.m., in the Lecture Hall. Tickets for the course, £1 6s., to members of the Institute, 12s. Syllabus of the course may be obtained at the Office.

The severe weather, I fear, is causing some of our Evening Classes to be badly attended. Students will, I know, take the hint, and alter this.

Now that the old Gymnasium is being taken down, the members are having the use of the Queen's Hall on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday in each week.

Mr. Spencer's Lecture on Monday next, on the "French Revolution," will be a popular one, I am sure, with all classes.

The arrangements are now completed for the presentation to Sir Edmund Hay Currie, of Testimonials from the Staff (past and present), Students, Old Boys' Club, and Junior Section, on Saturday the 31st instant. The Complimentary Dinner will be given by Mr. Scott-Edwardes, Esq., B.A., on "The French Revolution," to be followed by an entertainment by Mr. Scott-Edwardes.

COSTUME BALL in aid of the Boys' Club will be held at the Queen's Hall, Girls' Gymnasium Social Dance, at 7.30.

ON Saturday, 17th inst., a party of twenty ramblers visited the Anchor Brewery, Mile End. Starting from the Exchange, we proceeded along Queen Victoria Street, to the Embankment, from which was seen the novel sight of sea gulls in large numbers, and drifted ice in large masses, moving with the tide. Engaged in musing and taking notes of interesting objects, the city by the river was soon over, and Sanger's was reached about 1.15. We were at once admitted and comfortably seated in the front row, before the house was opened to the general public. At two o'clock the performance

PEOPLE'S PALACE RAMBLERS.—On Saturday, 17th inst., a party of twenty ramblers visited the Anchor Brewery, Mile End. This is by no means the first occasion on which the Club has availed itself of the kindness of the proprietors of this celebrated brewery, and the fairly large party present on Saturday testified to the interest excited by the manufacture of what is variously denounced "England's beverage" and "The curse of the country." To speak seriously, even the most ardent teetotaller—and there were several present on Saturday—could not but be interested in the variety and extent of the establishment, as well as with the very remarkable order and neatness everywhere displayed. The party—one of the largest, I believe, of the season—was divided into two portions and placed under the guidance of Messrs. Grainger and Crawley respectively, both of whom manifested great anxiety to explain as much as possible to the visitors. We have not space to describe in detail the multifarious operations through which the beverage goes ere it appears on our tables as old ale or treble x; the mash-tuns, the fermenting vats, with their ingenious arrangement of cold water-pipes for cooling the beer; the engines for crushing and sift ing grain; the artesian well; the tower, some 205 feet high, to the top of which the party ascended—which is used as a malt store; the well-arranged stables, and the cellars, where those of the party not absolutely enthusiastic in favour of cold water were invited to taste. Talking of water, we may add that the word is never used in the brewery; it is invariably called liquor, and in former times a fine was demanded from any one naming it otherwise, or, as our guide graphically put it, "He got his head punched"—no light punishment if the brewery old order of things were to hold, as is the case of the present generation appear to be. Altogether, this visit to the brewery was full of deep interest, and any of the party taking a delight in powerful machinery or ingenious mechanical contrivances, must have spent an exceedingly enjoyable afternoon. No rambles have been arranged for either January 24th or 31st. Saturday, February 7th, St. John's Gate and St. John's Church; meet at Farrington Street (Metropolitan Railway Station) at 2.45 p.m. sharp. The evening of Saturday, 14th February, will be devoted to social amusements of various kinds, including music, elocution, dancing, etc., in Room 10, at 8 p.m. Additional tickets, to be obtained only, to be obtained of the Secretary. Saturday, Feb. 21st, Charter House and St. Bartholomew's Church; meet at Aldersgate Street Station (Metropolitan Railway) at 2.15 p.m. sharp. A. McKENZIE, W. FOLLIT, Hon. Secs.

PEOPLE'S PALACE CHORAL SOCIETY, Conductor, Mr. Orton. M.A.—We are to give a sacred concert in the Queen's Hall on Ash Wednesday, and a performance of Handel's "Samson" on February 21st. It is also hoped that we shall be able to perform the "Ancient Mariner" early in March. Members are requested to be regular and punctual in their attendance, as we have so much to do. Voices wanted in all parts; those with good voices, and who can read well from either notation, should join at once, if they wish to take part in the forthcoming concerts.

DRAPELS' COMPANY'S TECHNICAL SCHOOL.—On Saturday morning, in spite of east wind and snow, we mustered at the Royal Exchange a party, sixty strong, for a rambles. We proceeded along Victoria Street, to the Embankment, from which was seen the novel sight of sea gulls in large numbers, and drifted ice in large masses, moving with the tide. Engaged in musing and taking notes of interesting objects the city by the river was soon over, and Sanger's was reached about 1.15. We were at once admitted and comfortably seated in the front row, before the house was opened to the general public. At two o'clock the performance

How Best to Bless the World.

In the little story of this poor widow I think we may find many helpful thoughts. Taken by itself the story is very important, but it is not the most important thing. The poor widow might be regarded as a symbol of the poor and humble who are the real foundation of society. In this case, the story is used to illustrate a larger point about the importance of charity and generosity.

In this context, the story of the poor widow can be seen as a metaphor for the importance of giving to those who are in need. The widow's act of giving two mites, which were considered to be very little, is a symbol of the small steps we can take to make a difference in the world. The story also highlights the importance of recognizing and valuing the contributions of those who are often overlooked, such as the poor and humble.

In summary, the story of the poor widow can be used as a reminder to be grateful for what we have, and to give back to those who are less fortunate than we are. As the widow did, we should take small steps to make a difference, even if it is only a little bit at a time. By doing so, we can contribute to the well-being of our community and the world as a whole.
and cry—"flicked what manner of stones are these!""

The hope of God is a most wonderful thing. It is not only a hope for the soul, but it is a hope for the body. That which is most wonderful about the hope of God is that it is not only a hope for the future, but it is a hope for the present. What is that which makes the hope of God so wonderful? It is the hope that God will bring to pass the will of man.

In order to understand the hope of God, we must first understand what the will of God is. The will of God is the desire of God for the world. It is the desire of God that the world should be saved. It is the desire of God that the world should be redeemed. It is the desire of God that the world should be reconciled to Him. It is the desire of God that the world should be made perfect.

In order to understand the hope of God, we must also understand what the desire of God for the world is. The desire of God for the world is that the world should be saved. The desire of God for the world is that the world should be redeemed. The desire of God for the world is that the world should be reconciled to Him. The desire of God for the world is that the world should be made perfect.

So, the hope of God is that God will bring to pass the will of man. It is the hope that God will bring to pass the desire of God. It is the hope that God will bring to pass the will of man and the desire of God. It is the hope that God will bring to pass the salvation of the world.

And so, the hope of God is a most wonderful thing. It is not only a hope for the soul, but it is a hope for the body. It is a hope for the present, as well as for the future. It is a hope for the world, as well as for the individual. It is a hope for all men, as well as for each man. It is a hope that God will bring to pass the salvation of the world. while, secret copies had been taken of it at different periods. Ford impressed him greatly, but that was all. For the most part they remained a 'black book,' as he termed it, and were never published. But when he began to write his history of America, he was forced to consult the original manuscript of a book that had long been lost to the public. Ford's novel, however, was not published until after his death. It was a popular success, and his name became known throughout the country.

"No edition was ever made. The pity which is so sure to follow a death like his is out of fashion nowadays. I don't think even your imagination will be quite elastic enough to stretch just that far. Still, there's no telling."
These rugged wintry days I scarce could bear,
Thou would'st return, bursting on this still air.
Like those same winds when startled from their lair,
Bids my heart bloom and sing and break all care.

When drops with welcome rain the April day,
Save there the rain in dreamy clouds doth stay,
Yet sure my love thou art most to May,

Woman's unfeeling heart, false altogether,
Moves like a feather, borne on the breezes,
She can grieve you, yet, e'er she pleases,
Woman with guiling smile, will e'er deceive you,
Wretched the dupe is, who when she looks kindly,
Yet he must surely be dull beyond measure,
Who of love's pleasure ne'er has been tasting.

Deep in the convent roof
Woman's unfeeling heart, false altogether,
Her heart's unfeeling, false altogether,
The shadows of the convent towers
My breath to Heav'n like vapour goes,
Still creeping with the creeping hours
Make Thou my spirit pure and clear,

As these white robes are soil, and dark
To yonder shining ground
As this spot is purer, earthlier spark,
To yonder argent round;
So show my soul before the Lamb,
My spirit before Thee,
That lead me to my Lord.

The people of tired cities
Are but God ploughing His mountains;
And those mountains yet shall be
To yonder shining ground;
To that I hope to be.

The gate roll back,
The source of His grace and freshness,
And His peace everlasting to me.

Go ploughed one day with an earthquake,
And down from His glistening eyes doth

The Sabbath of Eternity,
The Sabbath deep and wide,

A light upon the shining one,
The Bridegroom with his bride!
