PEOPLE'S PALACE CRICKET CLUB.—President: Nathaniel L. Cohen, Esq.—Secretary: Mr. Charles C. Atherley, 21, Groombridge-road, W. H. WHITE, Hon. Sec.

PeoPle's Palace old boyS Rowing Club.—President, Sir John H. Johnson, K.C.B., F.R.S. The old Boys have received a challenge from the popular organist, Mr. Thomas, and Mr. Carley. The club selected is the following: J. E. Bishop, G. Wilton, W. H. White, and C. Atkinson for a well-played game by 3 sets to love. Messrs. Baker and Clews, heat Stevens and Waterhouse, 6-4, 6-3, 6-2. The result was mainly brought about by Mr. Carley, who proved very successful. Mr. Notman was appointed secretary, and an arrangement was also made for an additional practice on the second Wednesday in each month, commencing in September next.

ADDITIONAL voices are still wanted, especially basse and alto.

The boys of the Day Technical School leave to-day for their annual camping out. The place selected this year being Frinton-on-Sea. That may they have a very pleasant time I am sure is the wish of all our readers.

Mr. Cave favoured us again on Sunday afternoon last, at the sacred concert, with several selections on the violin. Mr. C. E. Davies also assisted in a duet with the contra bass.

With Mr. Bessant.

Mr. W. A. Bessant, in acting as guide, pointed out the Atrium and Colonnade of February 12th, 1891, and presented the members of the Library with a view of the building. Mr. Besant mounted the platform, and with Mr. Besant's guidance, conducted the general public through the various departments. Mr. Besant, in his address, spoke of the history of the Club, the growth, and the future of the Royal Literary and Scientific Club. The address was followed by a question and answer session.

Library Report.

January to March, 1892.

The Library has been very active during the last quarter. The members have read extensively, and the collection has increased. A new book section has been added, and the Library has been reorganized. The library is now divided into three departments: fiction, non-fiction, and periodicals. The Library is open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. on weekdays, and from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

PROGRAMME OF CONCERT

Friday Concert (9th Series)
On Saturday, the 9th of July, 1892.
At 8 P.M.

Musical Director to the People's Palace

The CELIA VALENTINE QUARTETTE

MISS ANNIE LEA and MISS EMILY LLOYD.

MISS ANNIE LEA and MISS EMILY LLOYD

Despite the storm,
Let mirth and joy reign in our hearts,
Sailors' joys are all on sea,
Reefing the sails and fighting the waves.

The Holy City...
Methought the voice of angels
And then methought my dream was
Hush'd were the glad Hosannas
As the shadow of a cross arose
From Heaven in answer rang:
haul away!

And once again the scene was chang'd,
The light of God was on its streets,
Hosanna in the highest,
The tender blossom on the tree,
Kind is my Mary;
Oh ! see yon proud and haughty lass,
Her cheeks wi' modest roses blow,
Her head wi' pride and folly toss'd,
Ne'er look on her but let her pass,
Hosanna to your King!

Sing, for the night is o'er,
Hosanna evermore!

And they sometimes long just to clasp my
Did they wonder was I happy, did they
I dreamt I crossed the waters, for my
They remember me, they miss me, and
Did the sunlight shine on the old sweet
Did they sometimes long just to clasp my
Did they wonder was I happy, did they
I dreamt I crossed the waters, for my

And his oars gleam bright in its sweet
And he sighs as he plies his oar:
And he sighs as he plies his oar:
And the sea with splendour burns,
And he sighs as he plies his oar:
And he sighs as he plies his oar:

She would me honey call,
But, fool as then I was,
I thought she lov'd me too;
That knights upon bended knee,
That they pledged their faith to me.
I bless the hour when first we met,
I never, ah ! never can stay away;
I play on the concertina too.
And to me it seemed,
They pray for me.
As the floweret shines on the minaret fair,
And all the sun is out,
There I saw the miller's daughter,
And he was with the sea,
And the cockchafer sighs in the midnight air,
And to me it seemed,
And the rooks and crows were in the sky,
And to me it seemed,
The floweret shines on the minaret fair,
And to me it seemed,
The cockchafer sighs in the midnight air,
And to me it seemed,
They are but echoes, and echoes fade,
And to me it seemed,
For the summer grief had brought her,
And to me it seemed,

Glorious is my Mary,
She was smiling bright on me,
And I've learnt a tune on the gay
I know my notes, I count each bar,
I Bless your works, I hope they will
And the first sweet star doth gleam
And he sighs as he plies his oar:
And the soldier false was he;
And to me it seemed,
And the rooks and crows were in the sky,
And to me it seemed,
They are but echoes, and echoes fade,
And to me it seemed,
For the summer grief had brought her,
And to me it seemed,
They are but echoes, and echoes fade,
And to me it seemed,
For the summer grief had brought her,
And to me it seemed,
They are but echoes, and echoes fade,
And to me it seemed,
For the summer grief had brought her,
And to me it seemed,
They are but echoes, and echoes fade,
And to me it seemed,
The floweret shines on the minaret fair,

/ High on celestial mountains

/ Then, arising, lives for ever,

/ For the Throne of Calvary.

/ Midst unending Alleluias

/ He the Lamb once slain is worthy,

/ Sion's people tell His praises,

/ There He wins our full salvation.

/ Who was dead (/), and lives for aye.

/ Bursting from the sons of light;

/ Dies that we may die no more;

/ Moved the Lord of Life to die,

/ Form'd the seas, or built the sky,

/ There He stands His gem-built Throne all bright,

/ Ever Three and ever One,

/ While unending ages run.

/ Evermore, evermore, evermore.

/ Consubstantial, Co-eternal,

/ Ever Three and ever One,

/ Ancient of eternal days,

/ Reigning where He was before.

/ Evermore, evermore, evermore.

/ God of God the Word Incarnate,

/ Who was dead (/), and lives for aye.

/ For the Throne of Calvary.

/ There He was fore-ordain'd the Prince of princes
