PEOPLE'S PALACE.

PEOPLE'S PALACE YOUNG WOMEN'S SWIMMING CLUB.—The first competition of the club was held in the Bath on Tuesday, October 17th, when Miss Richardson, one of its vice-presidents, kindly presided in the absence of Lady Jennings, its president. There were seven events on the programme, which included an exhibition of fancy swimming by Miss Regan, the captain of the club, and Miss Hurley. The swimmers rather took their time to swim off, as owing to the short time allowed for practice, and the difficulty of getting in condition, the whole race had in each case to be swum instead of the final heat only as usual; but on the whole the entertainment went off exceptionally well, and the club is indebted to its president, Miss M. J. Richardson, and its judges and starters for the success of the evening. The first event, 50 Yards Club Handicap, for which two prizes were offered, one by Lady Jennings and one by our secretary, was won by Miss Deely; Miss Regan, who was scratch, coming in a very good second. Indeed, the race was a very close one all through. All members swam in club colours, yellow and black, and the effect in the water was very pretty. The second event was a 30 Yards Handicap, for which two prizes were offered, which were won by Miss Flinge and Miss E. Gardner. The second of these prizes was a very nice umbrella, kindly presented by the members of the People's Palace Men's Swimming Club, a gift which was much appreciated. Then came the race across the bath for this year's members only, which was won by Miss Hurley; after this a race on the back, 30 yards, which was won by Miss Regan, Miss Rawlings coming in a good second. After this the Blindfold Race was swum, and won by Miss Regan. Only one prize was offered for this feat. The last race on the programme was the Consolation Race, for which a good many entered. There were three prizes offered, and they were won by Miss L. Brown, Miss C. Hurley, and Miss E. Regan. Most of the prizes were silver medals, and these were handed to their winners at the close of the evening by Miss Richardson. A good many spectators were present, but not so many as the club would have liked. A notice was given out to the effect that the bath would remain open for women on Tuesdays from 2 to 9.30 p.m. up to December.

PEOPLE'S PALACE RAMBLING CLUB.

On Saturday last a party of six met at Poplar Station and proceeded to Millwall Junction, booked to South Woolwich. After a short visit to Greenwich, a visit to Green-

The weather being very fine, we crossed the park to Blackheath, which presented the usual Sunday afternoon appearance, covered with football clubs and their admirers. Having spent a little time watching the game, we crossed the common to the extreme corner leading to Morten College, which we entered. It has a very fine front, surrounded by twenty-three acres of beautiful grounds. We learned from Mr. Hill, an old gentleman, that the college was founded in 1595 for decayed merchants, and that there were forty resi-

PEOPLE'S PALACE YOUNG MEN'S SWIMMING CLUB.—The first competition of the club was held in the Bath in the Queen's Hall, on Saturday evening. The selected quartets being, "God is a Spirit" (Sterndale Bennett), and "Come every one that thirsteth," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah." W. H. DANN, Hon. Sec.

One of the most conspicuous being the buff-coloured Planet Sands, which are here about 8 ft. thick. Those who intend joining the Geology Class should do so immediately, since it is highly desirable that all members should be present at the first Field Class. Hammers will be required as the locality furnishes several typical Upper Chalk fossils. In addition each student should be provided with a note-book. The party will travel down to North Woolwich by the 2.5 p.m. train from Fenchurch-street, calling at Bow-road 2.15, Stratford Market 2.20, and arriving at Woolwich 2.27.

In connection with our Concerts, arrangements have been made for the Garrick's Dramatic Company to give a series of Moving Costume Tableaux on the 7th, 9th, 10th, and 12th of November. So many were disappointed last February owing to not being able to obtain admission, owing to the limited number of houses we then had, that we anticipate this announcement will be received with pleasure.
Boys they managed to secure a goal two minutes from the start; then the Birds to their credit, the Swifts adding three above A. Oughton and H. Phillips playing Oughton (half-backs), Burton, sub., (forwards).—Match next Saturday, Oughton, Langdon, and Baines (goal), Phillips and Howell (backs), Rinn., Myers, and Oughton (reserves). Another side: "Our class consists of persons of all ages, Boys, girls, and young people who like myse--h, myself, have been or are of the drift, and of being able to write a piece of music without saying it. No one increases individual teaching in arithmetic, and our reading lessons are a pleasure as well as being instructive. Then too, we are taught to write a letter properly, to make out a bill and receipt it, and in short, anything of which we feel our need." A third says, "As a student of the People's Palace, I want to call the attention of women to the educational advantages of our classes held every Friday evening. I speak only for myself, but I know that my fellow members heartily join me as writing that the public should know that we have derived great benefit from this class, and some of us in a very short time. For this we have to thank our lady instructor, who not only teaches us the above subjects, but also explains everything about which we had to be informed, especially in arithmetic. I am quite sure that people who have her for a teacher, will, if they be pleased, with the man, quiet one to carry on her work at home, and will be only sorry that they did not send their children to her. I trust the class will continue to help many of our women, like my own, who so sadly neglected arithmetic in former days." Yet another says—"One day about a year ago I picked up a circular con­ ­cealing the evening classes held at the People's Palace. On reading it I discovered there were classes held for women only, one of which met every Friday evening, and that there was a good opportunity of im­ parting to women, and I made up my mind to join. I did so, and was made very happy by Mrs. Thomas, the teacher. I was pleased to find could have individual instruction, especially as many of the students were more advanced than myself. I also became aware that the instruction is not restricted to what is commonly known as the Three Rs. We are having instruction in grammar, letter-writing, and arithmetic, by Mrs. Thomas on Friday evenings, 8 to 9.30; and even arithmetic, and our reading lessons are a pleasure as well as being instructive. Then too, we are taught to write a letter properly, to make out a bill and receipt it, and in short, anything of which we feel our need." Arrangements are being made with them an hour between the classes for refreshment. One writes: "My education having been much neglected in my young days and hearing that there was a class for young women held at the People's Palace, I thought I should like to join it, but was kept from doing so for some time by the fear that I should meet with rebuffs. How widely I have been mistaken! I am happy to say that at last I have met with the greatest kindness. In fact, I have received from Mr. Thomas, with a warm appreciation of the great benefit from the class in a very short time—thanks to our teacher, and I feel sure that this class with more perfectly a general number of those who are like myself would be as well pleased to become members of it as I was." Another writes: "Our class consists of persons of all ages, Boys, girls, and young people who like me—and I feel sure, if this class were more generally known, a great number of them would undoubtedly be very marked. As it is, no end of testimony as to the value of our classes, the education being certainly a gain to us in all directions, and our reading lessons are a pleasure as well as being instructive. Then too, we are taught to write a letter properly, to make out a bill and receipt it, and in short, anything of which we feel our need." It is often remarked that it is impossible to get on in these competitive times as it is popularly, if not vulgarly, called; and such a remark is often put forward in the face of women, either married or single, to help each one according to wants. "As a student of the Palace, I have before remarked on the unwis­ sible to get on in these competitive times. I have no sympathy with cyclists who I can do to help each other. I will do so, and will give my help to bless and save!""A red Hungarian band.

I pass along thy moonlit street,

Bid me discourse, I will enchant thine

And thou art gone from me I know,

Out of the stars thou callest me,

Till your heart shall beat on mine,

Love that shall be life to you and me,

Let me in your eyes divine

Love as boundless as the ocean sea,

We are driving with speed o'er the

We're never so happy, oh stop! we are

Close their dewy petals into rest.

The earth and the heavens are smiling,

Come to me my darling heart,

Love, that life nor death may part,

How jolly it is to be sleighing;

Now then let us sing, etc.

In the beautiful land of sleep.

And the heart shall forget its sorrow,

Just a word of pity, O, my love!

To where the heart would be.

And you never came to comfort me!

And the stars are in the sky,

With a love that shall not die.

And the bells will ring to-morrow,

And he took her in his arms so softly,

As she stretch'd her hands imploring,

The night is still and holy,

And it seems to the eyes that are

Across the dark horizon

And sing, ye sweet mermaidens,

And the stars are in the sky,

Beyond the little kirk by the old tryst-

Good night, good-night, beloved,

And the night is still and holy,

And it seems to the eyes that are

Across the dark horizon

And sing, ye sweet mermaidens,

And the stars are in the sky,

Beyond the little kirk by the old tryst-

Good night, good-night, beloved,
