METROPOLITAN HOSPITAL,
KINGSLAND ROAD, E.

Dr. Rooke's Oriental Pills.
Recommended by Sir Henry Halsey, Bart., M.D., formerly President of the Royal College of Physicians, London, as being invaluable for indigestion, flatulence, bilious, and liver complaints. Sold in bottles at 2s., 4s., and 8s. each.

Crosby's Balsamic Cough Elixir
is specially recommended by several eminent Physicians. Acting on the brain and the bowels, it is most effectual in cases of weakness and exhaustion. As a medicine it will surmount any known prostration, hence it has a most marvellous effect on all nervous complaints, whether arising from overwork or mental anxiety. Sold in bottles at 2s., 4s., 8s., and 16s. each.

This Journal has a larger circulation than any other in the East End.

VI's queen). In 1449 Erasmus had rooms and a common college. The chapel, hall, and library were severally inspected.

Screen is one of the best pieces of carved wood-work. Upon this screen the most curious panel paintings are found. The library is a splendid specimen of the English Library of 1596.

Tennyson and Dryden were members of this college. On our way back to Harvey Road we stopped to see St. Benedict's Church, the noblest and largest institution of the kind in the world, was founded by Henry VIII. It has many specimens of Saxon architecture in the kingdom.

EVENING CLASSES will commence on Monday, Sept 29th.

PART I.

1. March ... "Fire la Victoire" ... Green.

2. Overture ... "British Knight" ... Hermann.

3. Serenade ... "Daybreak" ... Barlow.

Ms. RECHAB TANDY.

Day dawned, and still thy door is closed,
My beautiful why sleepest thou?
It is the hour when wakes the rose,
Then why art thou not waking now?
O my fair one listen,
The morning hour hath wings;
And the lover truth thy window.
Is weeping while he sings.

All things are knocking at thy door for thee,
The dawn comes softly, musing "I am day."
The song bird wakens "I am harmony."
And I am love," sweet lady hear me say.
O my fair one listen, etc.

5. Selection ... "Iolanthe" ... Sir A. Sullivan.

6. Song ... "The Moonlit Maid" ... Parker.

MISS ANNIE LEA.

I watched the golden sunshine thro' my narrow prison bars,
I've seen the pale moon gilding 'neath her court of glittering stars.
But no birds sing near my lattice, and the flowers I cannot see.
Save it, dreams the days recalling when the captive maid was free.

In my dreams I see the wavelets as they kiss my native shore,
I've seen the golden sunshine thro' my narrow prison bars,
Yet such dreams come but in sleeping, and that sleep I woo in vain,
Or has night its waking vision, that I hear again that strain?

Hark! near it comes, and nearer. Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see.

In my dreams I see the wavelets as they kiss my native shore,
I've seen the golden sunshine thro' my narrow prison bars,
Yet such dreams come but in sleeping, and that sleep I woo in vain,
Or has night its waking vision, that I hear again that strain?

Hark! near it comes, and nearer. Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
Oh, can it be that I see,
There's Robin and Giles and the farmer's son,
They tease me both late and early.
To marry the fellows, you, ev'ryone.
But I send them away all surly.
And tho' the young miller has riches in store,
I make him a curtsey, he makes me a bow.
He kisses me, and promises to marry, I vow;
I tried to forget him, but all in vain.
Oh! I wish that young fellow was with me just now,
On a May-day morning early.
