PEOPLE'S PALACE JUNIORS CRICKET CLUB.

On Saturday last we played St. John's School at London Park, and were well beaten by a strong side of fine players who did not show any mercy to our boys. We lost by 170 runs, and after that Cambridge College, which are a first-class side. The ground was in fine condition, and the game was keenly contested throughout. The score was 200 for 5 wickets, and 70 for 2 wickets. The best scores were 50 by J. C. Smith and 40 by J. M. Webster.

COUNTRY LIFE.

The daily Telegraph has published a long article on the subject of the large increase in the number of country clubs in the United Kingdom. The article states that there has been a remarkable growth in the number of country clubs in recent years, and that many of these clubs are now attracting a great deal of attention from people who are interested in country pursuits.

The article gives a detailed account of the various types of country clubs that are now in existence, and it describes the facilities that are available at these clubs. It also discusses the various activities that are offered at these clubs, such as hunting, fishing, and shooting.

The article concludes by saying that the increase in the number of country clubs is a sign of the growing interest in country pursuits, and that it is likely that this trend will continue in the future.

CLIMATE.

The climate in the United States is very variable, and it can be difficult to predict the weather in any particular area. However, the article states that the current climate is generally favorable, and that the temperatures are moderate and comfortable.

The article also discusses the various factors that can influence the climate in the United States, such as the location of the area, the altitude, and the proximity to the ocean.

The article concludes by saying that the climate in the United States is generally pleasant, and that it is likely that this will continue in the future.

8. Song ... "Trusty as Steel" ... Pensotti.

Mr. JOHN AMBROSE.

O, who are as true as the boys of the blue,
When the foemen stand before them ;
Each sword is a shield as they ride to the field,
When the foemen stand before them ;
The flower of the field are the boys of the blue.

Each sword is a shield as they ride to the field,
When the foemen stand before them ;
Trusty as steel are the boys of the blue.

Lion hearted, and loyal, and trusty, and true,
First born of those, who were England's pride,
The kings of the camp are the boys of the blue.

Steady and bright their sabres flash out,
in love or in war they are dauntless and true,
Ready and right, they merrily shout,
Their hearts are as brave as their swords are true,
Ready and right, they merrily shout,
Their hearts are as brave as their swords are true,
Then give me a right, good craft and crew,
When o'er the deep blue sea I roam,
A skipper am I, no danger can
My heart, my heart with joy will beat,
She's just the lass for a sailor's wife,
As true, as true can be,
But though I love to roam the sea,
As true, as true can be,
And come what may,
As true, as true can be,
And come what may,
Ready and right, they merrily shout,
Though storms arise,
My life is as free as the wind that blows,
And I'll, yes, I'll contented be.
When from the deck I see the shore,
And I'll, yes, I'll contented be.
But a' the lads they loe me weel,
And I'll, yes, I'll contented be.
Here shall I see the lass,
And I'll, yes, I'll contented be.
In love or in war they are dauntless and true,
Despite the storms of life that may arise,
My heart, my heart will beat TRUE!
In love or in war they are dauntless and true,
My heart, my heart will beat TRUE!
But though I love to roam the sea,
As true, as true can be,
And come what may,
As true, as true can be,
But though I love to roam the sea,
As true, as true can be,
And come what may,
As true, as true can be,
But though I love to roam the sea,
As true, as true can be,
And come what may,
As true, as true can be,
But though I love to roam the sea,
As true, as true can be,
And come what may,
As true, as true can be,
But though I love to roam the sea,
Done for the Trade on the Prcmlsos.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION.

"OCTAVY day when the quest and query of life is only "money, and how to get it," too little is made of that important "factor in the enjoyment of money when the other tendency of the human mind is a love for external show. There is no more reason for an individual to appear accomplished, well-dressed and polished, and a disposition to be satisfied with what superficial perfection can achieve.

"One need go no further than the nearest group of children round a globe to see how far they have been endowed with the instinct of appreciation.

"Instead of the promotion of the health and physical efficiency of the human frame, many quarters, in danger of becoming a show. By all means -improvement is practically nil, and certainly in appearance -is with such exercises merely a matter of a quick eye, nicety -ciously arranged course of gymnastics on apparatus can.

"There is to be found in gymnastics again here in the desire of meeting the despicable -ence, as an instance of an exam-ler on a large scale, -s of the earlier part of this busy century -cross, and were chiefly composed of abbre-viations of ordinary longhand.

"Among the great modern systems is that of Pitman, which -placing of apparatus is of this futile type. There -commit our Englishmen to the performance of to-day.

"The general and almost compulsory use of shorthand is of such -h and was adapted to Spanish, unless some -scripture, the practice is but an abridgment of the spoken word, -ed, which later was adopted by the Emperor Claudius, -og, and were chiefly composed of abbre-viations of ordinary longhand.

"This subject is chosen as "being one suitable to persons of either sex.
